

I asked for one good reason to choose Texas Mutual— They gave me three.

The energy industry is powered by innovation. We're always looking for the next breakthrough. That's what really impressed me about Texas Mutual Insurance Company—they're committed to finding better solutions for workers' comp. When you work in emerging technologies, cost is important. We knew they offered competitive premiums—what we didn't know is that we could save up to 12 percent more by joining their health care network. And their comprehensive safety program not only lowers our costs, it protects our employees. I asked for one good reason to trust Texas Mutual with our business—I got competitive premiums, a network discount and a safer workplace. With progressive thinking like that, it's no wonder more Texas companies choose Texas Mutual to power their workers' comp programs.
